ENGEL's ENGEL GALAXY bib overalls are functional and durable overalls made of a stretch material that allows you to move completely freely and comfortably. In the design of these overalls, great emphasis has been placed on comfort. For this reason, they are designed with ribbed panels and the ability to adjust the size so that they sit comfortably on you. In addition, the knee sections are ergonomic and the wide elasticated panel in the back allows the overalls to follow your movements in all types of work situations. With these durable bib overalls, you are also well protected, whilst your legs and lower body are kept warm. This is especially important if your job requires you to kneel often and get dirty. These bib overalls are optimised for work use, with several practical pockets on the thighs and front so you can always have the most important things close at hand.
